Dubai is the most populous and largest city in the United Arab Emirates (UAE). It is situated on the southeast shoreline of the Persian Gulf and is one of the seven emirates that make up the nation. The city of Dubai is situated on the emirate's northern coastline and heads up the Dubai-Sharjah-Ajman metropolitan territory. Dubai has developed as a global city and business center point of the Middle East. It is likewise a noteworthy transport center point for travellers and freight.

Duabi- City of Culture: According to the census conducted by the Statistics Centre of Dubai, the population of the emirate was 1,771,000 as of 2009, which included 1,370,000 males and 401,000 females.[109] As of June 2017, the population is 2,789,000.[110] The region covers 1,287.5 square kilometres (497.1 sq mi). The population density is 408.18/km<sup>2</sup> – more than eight times that of the entire country. Dubai is the second most expensive city in the region and 20th most expensive city in the world.

Dubai has a hot desert climate. Dubai has two distinct seasons summer and winter. Summer in Dubai begins from around the last week of April and ends around the 1st week of October. This period is characterized by very hot weather. Due to the city's close proximity to the sea, the temperatures in Dubai are milder in summer when compared with other Gulf cities such as Kuwait City and Riyadh.

Dubai has attracted world attention through large construction projects and sports events, the world's tallest building, the Burj Khalifa. By 1960s, Dubai's economy was based on revenues from trade and, to a smaller extent, oil exploration concessions, but oil was not discovered until 1966. Oil revenue first started to flow in 1969. Dubai's oil revenue helped accelerate the early development of the city, but its reserves are limited, and production levels are low: today, less than 5% of the emirate's revenue comes from oil. The emirate's Western-style model of business drives its economy with the main revenues now coming from tourism, aviation, real estate, and financial services. Dubai has recently attracted world attention through many innovative large construction projects and sports events. The city has become iconic for its skyscrapers and high-rise buildings.

Dubai- The 'culture of Dubai', an emirate of the United Arab Emirates. Simultaneously, increasing globalisation and the settling of various immigrant groups have transformed the city into a melting pot of different nationalities and have given rise to a cosmopolitan culture that is in synch with other global cities. The UAE culture mainly revolves around the religion of Islam and traditional Arab culture. The influence of Islamic and Arab culture on its architecture, music, attire, cuisine and lifestyle are very prominent as well. Five times every day, Muslims are called to prayer from the minarets of mosques which are scattered around the country. Since 2006, the weekend has been Friday-Saturday, as a compromise between Friday's holiness to Muslims and the Western weekend of Saturday-Sunday.
