ABOUT CONFERENCE

After the successful completion of the 1st Edition on Coronavirus & Research – Virtual Conference, we are honored to invite you for the 2nd Edition of Coronavirus & Research to be held online on 26 – 27 July 2021.

The virtual conference on Coronavirus & Research brings together top basic, translational, and clinical researchers from around the world to share the latest studies, risk factors, important developments, and best research methods in the ongoing battle against COVID – 19 and related infectious diseases.

Various topics will be presented and discussed in which topics are limited to Basic and translational science, clinical science, epidemiology, public health, prevention, mental health, risk factors, case reports and social sciences.

We invite academics and scholars from all the relevant disciplines to submit their papers and ongoing research findings.

AIM OF THE CONFERENCE

The main objective of the scientific webinar is to create space for presentation of current situation of COVID 19 and also a space for creating collaborative links between academics, practitioners and providers aiming at long-term sharing of knowledge and discussions of highly current issues. The purpose of this online platform is to discuss the problems and issues in the field of health, new trends, innovations, developments and research, and also to increase the efficiency of health care and putting into daily practice the use of information technology in the field of public health protection.

The conference aims to

- Articulate the pathogenesis of viral diseases and the biology of the viruses that cause them;
- Develop an improved ability to perform and interpret diagnostic virology tests; and
- Apply methods of antiviral therapies and vaccination strategies.
- Provide an opportunity for research interaction and established senior investigators across the globe

WHY TO ATTEND?

Pneumonia of unknown cause detected in Wuhan, China on 31 December 2019 with was confirmed by WHO as Covid19 (Novel Coronavirus Disease 2019). The outbreak was declared a Public Health Emergency of International Concern. Many experts and funders addressed the issues for developing easy-to-apply diagnostics, accelerating existing vaccine candidates and preventing infection. Several therapeutics and vaccines were in clinical trials and people were informed to protect themselves to control the spread. With the experts and healthcare professions; this is the best opportunity to reach the largest assemblage of participants from the coronavirus research. This event will provide an opportunity to build and expand your network with various people, discuss novel strategies and gives chance to make collaboration with other universities and research labs. Conduct presentations, awareness, drug discovery, clinical trials, distribute information, meet with current and potential scientists and receive name recognition at this 2-day event.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

- Biotechnologists
- Virologists
- Virology Students
- Virology Researchers
- Virology and Microbiology Faculty
- Microbiologist
- Psychologists
- Mental Health care takers
- Pharmacists
- Virology and Microbiology Associations and Societies
